Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at FSU

The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute offered 87 classes this academic year, 38 in the Fall Term, 37 in the Spring Term, and 12 in Maymester. Topics ranged from art, local and world history, literature, music, nutrition, current events, philosophy, writing, genealogy research, language, sports, food and wine, computers, photography, and science.

Members enjoyed the OLLI Noon Lecture Series, which hosted speakers such as Executive Director of Statewide Guardian ad Litem Program Alan Abramowitz; Doug Alderson, author, photographer, teacher; and Pulitzer Prize winning journalist Lucy Morgan.

OLLI members also took cultural trips to Jacksonville and Fernandina Beach, traveled to Normandy and Paris to extend the WWII studies visiting the Memorials of War and went to Florence, Italy, and Barcelona, Spain for Study Abroad Programs. In addition, there were 27 special interest activities and field trips held locally and regionally.

Due to a new partnership created between OLLI at FSU and Friendship Force International (FFI), the OLLI-FFI Club members hosted a delegation of 5 professionals from Ukraine for one week to learn how national and local government policies shape our healthcare system.

OLLI at FSU now has over 1100 members and has received a $50,000 special operating grant from the Bernard Osher Foundation due to the large increase in members and excellence in programming. The institute is well on its way to meeting the goals for receiving its second million dollar endowment from the Osher Foundation.

Safe Mobility for Life Coalition

The Safe Mobility for Life Coalition is committed to the unique needs of Florida's aging road users. By improving road safety and increasing the mobility of Florida's seniors, the Coalition strives to reduce traffic accidents, injuries, and fatalities among older drivers and other aging road users. The Pepper Institute was awarded its 4th annual grant from the Florida Department of Transportation to support the state-wide Safe Mobility for Life Coalition. As of this year, the Coalition has participated in seven conferences and sent out over 7,000 aging road user guides to 2,675 Florida residents.

Last July, the Pepper Institute hosted the quarterly meeting for the Coalition at the Claude Pepper Center with about 45 members in attendance. In the past year, the Coalition also hosted their first Safety is Golden Mobility fair in Broward County in order to raise awareness of the availability of safety and mobility resources in local communities. John Reynolds is working with the Coalition to develop a packet for legislators and other policymakers to be distributed this year.
